

BILLY

seemed like a child without a chance in life. His tiny body was exposed to illegal drugs before birth, and he never went to school. He was discovered by CPS after calling a security guard at a motel where he was staying with his parents and baby sister. He was found shielding his baby sister from flying glass during a violent fight between his parents.

Today, Billy is a thriving 8-year-old boy. He was recently adopted with his sister Cindy thanks to his CASA Angela's insistence that the two stay together. Angela was also a driving force in making sure that Billy had all the tools he needed to excel in school. And although he started out behind the others and never thought he was smart, Billy is starting school this year at the top of his class.

FIND A CHILD